BANGTAILS ARE AT PIMLICO

Running Meet Opens at That Race Course Today.

BENNING STABLES DESERTED

Nick Hurley and Australian Jimmy Ryan Will Have a Twenty-Round Bout at the Spa Athletic Club Tonight—The Californian a Slight Favorite.

The running meet at Benning over, the followers of the bangtails will migrate to Baltimore, and will hold high carnival at the one-time famous Pimlico. The racing begins today and lasts until December 4, inclusive. The admission fee will be only 50 cents, and residents in this city can make the trip to Oysterhead with only a trifling more expense than it cost them to go to the beautiful Benning track.

Nearly all the horses have been shipped to Pimlico. Extra trains yesterday took the stable of the various owners to the track, and the morning the huge will pull upon a new trip.

It is not known that the Benning meeting was a great success from a financial standpoint, even though the attendance upon several days was very large. The racing was none of the best, and several things occurred which were questionable in any light.

It is infinitely that anything that savors of crookedness will be allowed at Pimlico, since the anti-race have been making some efforts to conduct the races in a fair manner. It is hoped that the officials at the Baltimore meeting will be alert, and stop tricks that are so apt to be turned on the public. The track has been put in excellent shape and the finishing touches only are to be made.

The program for the first week schedule five races daily, beginning at 2 in the afternoon. Steeplechases will be added Tuesday and Saturday. The first steeplechase will be for the National Steeplechase and Hunt Association Cup, to be ridden by members of any recognized hunt club, mounted on half-bred horses. The second event of the sort will be open for three-year-olds and upward.

The events and nominations for today are as follows:

First race—Hotel Stafford Stakes—For two-year-olds, maidens, five furlongs. Partridge, Princess India, Ellen D., 109; Yaphank, Jack Bonhomme, Longacre, Flamingo, Tampion, Gossard, Harper, Commercial Traveler, 112.

Second race—All ages, six furlongs. J. A. Gray, 111; 81; Fox, 112; Galla, 113; Wadsworth, 108; Aurum, Plantain, 106; Lady Dandee, Woodranger, 102; Gyppercup, 98.

Third race—Selling, one mile, Marshall, 114; Waterman, 109; 101; 111; 112; 113; 109; Debnore, Michaw, Prince, L. B.

Columbia Typographical Union's Action Relative to Boycotts.

The regular meeting yesterday at Typographical Temple, President Robinson in the chair. There was a large attendance, and the greater part of the time was consumed in the consideration of several proposed amendments to the election laws of the union.

The amendments were in the interest of economy and for facilitating all things in connection with the annual election of officers of the union and delegates to the convention of the international union.

It also proposed to place greater restrictions on the members, requiring that they shall have clear cards at least one day before the election. The amendments also provided that where there are more than two candidates for any officer, a simple plurality vote shall elect.

The report was referred to the committee on laws, which will meet on Saturday next at the Temple at 7 o'clock, to formulate a final report.

In reference to the laying of boycotts, the following amendment was adopted: "No boycott shall be levied or imposed, except after a report by the grievance committee, and then by a two-thirds vote. And the violation of any boycott levied or imposed by this union shall be punished by a fine of not less than $1, provided, the union may, by a two-thirds vote, increase this penalty, or provide for punishment by expulsion."

J. M. Kreter was elected delegate to the Central Labor Union over Shelby Smith and J. L. King.

Senate bill No. 1575 and House bill No. 30, which propose to make unlawful the business of railroad ticket brokerage were severely criticized as an invasion of the rights of the traveling public, who pay money for transportation. The union asks the co-operation of all labor organizations and the general public to aid them in opposing the passage of these bills.

COLLECTOR BRADY'S CASE.

Solicitor of the Treasury May Render His Decision Today.

It was said last night that the solicitor of the Treasury will today render his opinion in the matter of the legality of the act of Collector Brady, of Richmond, in receiving certain of his deputies. This case was referred to the Attorney General, but he declined to make any opinion. It is understood that the collector holds after a careful examination of the law, that none of the provisions of the statute providing for the appointment of collectors of internal revenue and of customs was repealed by the enactment of the civil service reform law, and that the power of appointing the deputies provided for in the earlier act is still extant. In other words, that deputy collectors are not properly within the Dress Goods.

People who have seen the immense quantity of these goods we bought at the sale may doubt that we will be able to dispose of all we have left in three days. We are not sure that we can do so. But if prices—the kind of prices we have learned to make—the kind of prices that you have learned to regard as peculiar to this firm—the kind of prices which have thus far made our success—will do this, we'll apply the full pressure of our ingenuity, and let you accomplish the rest for us.

For 19c.

You are not in the habit of getting much value. You'll get it here Monday—at this price we offer you a quantity of dress goods which we guarantee to be all wool and double width. In the lot are fancy checks, assorted mixtures, and novelties of all kinds.

For 29c.

We can offer you an unlimited assortment. Most of the styles are exact reproductions of the finest imported fabrics. Two grades only—all wool and mohair and wool—hundreds of styles, thought, and scores of colorings; 36, 38 and 40 inches wide.

For 37c.

There are goods awaiting you for which you have often paid 62 1/2c. A more comprehensive grouping of standard styles and qualities was never accomplished at such a price.

For 55c.

Here we can talk of fine imported weaves—fabrics which include plain goods of every kind—limited novelty effects—checks—two tones—covert cloths, whip cords—benzalines—diagonal colored novelties—poplins—benzalines and waxes. Where was such an assortment ever offered before?

For 69c.

Talking now of plaids—the finest and most attractive collection of plaids ever placed on the same sort of shelves. The prices of Bonny Scotland. Plaids of the Highlands, the region of the heather and the thistle. Macgregor's, McFarland's, Gordon's, McDonald's, Lennan's, and the selectest of every clan in Scotland. There are all-wool plaids, silk and wool plaids, overcoat plaids of silk—in color schemes too beautiful to attempt description.
